ENERGIES 2050

Programme of events
COP22 - Marrakesh
5th to 18th of November 2016
In spite of growing evidences and repeated warnings from a wide range of stakeholders (scientists, representatives of the public and private sectors, civil society, etc.), one can only admit that not enough have been and are being done to face the climate issue. The crisis we face are getting stronger day after day. Humankind is confronted to an urgency to act, with challenges of increasing complexity that reinforce each other and are exacerbated by the consequences of climate change.

These challenges can appear too overwhelming to be tackled... Still, 2015 was a pivotal year for the future of humanity, with the adoption of the Sustainable Development Goals and the establishment of a new international climate agreement during the 21st Conference of the Parties (COP) in Paris in December 2015. To enter into force, the Paris Agreement had to be ratified (or similar process) by 55 Parties, representing at least 55% of global greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions. These conditions were met early October, opening the door for an entry into force on November 4th, a few days before the start of COP22 in Marrakesh.

COP22 is expected to be the « Conference of action ». Indeed, the engagements submitted in the Intentional Nationally Determined Contributions (INDC) need now to be transformed into reality (in NDC, or Nationally Determined Contributions). COP22 is thus critical and is an essential step for implementation of the Paris agreement. The year 2015 was marked by successes which must push the international community to enhance its ambition in the fight against climate change and transform objectives into reality.

Of course, these negotiations should not mask each of us’ realities and constraints and more than ever, we must use the existing range of solutions to pool, share, leverage and build together a new future, different and based on solidarity. Everyone can and must innovate each day at its own level to promote positive and sustainable values. This is the time for action and the challenges of sustainable development, justice and solidarity must be a priority for all. In this collective foundation, and considering the big challenges to deal with, States must take the leadership and the success of Marrakech must invite to action and common responsibilities.

This major international event, held from the 7th to the 18th of November, is also an opportunity for all actors involved, and not only state actors, to change their commitments into concrete action. COP22 is a unique opportunity to share knowledge, to demonstrate possibilities, to build partnerships and leverage opportunities. ENERGIES 2050’s activites reflect this desire to build a shared and plural future, vector of universal and solidarity based values.

ENERGIES 2050 was founded with this vision and works daily in France and throughout the world to build a sustainable future.

The time for Advocacy is over … we must, more than ever, turn challenges into opportunities and testify possibilities. These are the major changes that the world needs … understand, share and implement will be the guide lines for these two weeks of negotiations.

Stéphane POUFFARY, Founder and Honorary president ENERGIES 2050
The team of ENERGIES 2050
November 2016
ENERGIES 2050 participates actively in the fight against climate change and will be very involved in during the 22nd Conference of Parties (COP22) of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) that will take place in Marrakech from the 7th to the 18th of November 2016.

We will organize or participate to more than 30 events, side events and conferences, whether it is on official spaces, or on our partners’ booths and on ENERGIES 2050’s booths in the blue zone (accredited) and green zone, where we will have a dedicated space of 35m².

On this space, we invite prestigious and recognized partners to build with us a rich and international program, so that we can share our activities and showcase the solutions to implement.

We will also display an international exhibit, ART’s PLANET by ENERGIES 2050, in the Blue zone on the pavilion of La Francophonie, in the Green zone on the Youth space of the Swiss cooperation and on our booths and those of our partners.

These various events are not to be missed opportunities to enhance our partners’ solutions, federate, scale up the means of action and reinforce the implementation of mitigation and adaptation projects. These also constitute opportunities to initiate and reinforce partnerships for concrete projects.

The COP22 expected to be the “Conference of the Action” needs to transform challenges in successes.

ENERGIES 2050 is more than ever engaged to make its contribution and to participative to this positive dynamic.
